"Gross weight," when applied to a motor-vehicle, means the sum of the weight of the motor-vehicle and its semi-trailer (if any) and the weight of the load resting thereon or sustained thereby; and when applied to a trailer means the sum of the weight of the trailer and its semi-trailer (if any) and the weight of the load resting thereon or sustained thereby; and when applied to any vehicle other than a motor-vehicle, trailer, or semi-trailer means the sum of the weight of the vehicle and the weight of the load resting thereon or sustained thereby:

"Metal tire" means any tire or the part of the outer circumference of a wheel which comes in contact with the surface of the highway, and which is made of metal or other non-elastic material:

"Motor-vehicle" means any vehicle propelled otherwise than by muscular power, excepting the cars of electric and steam railways and other vehicles running only upon rails or tracks:

"Pneumatic tire" means any tire inflated with compressed air:

"Semi-trailer" means any vehicle, other than trailer, which is attached to a motor-vehicle or to a trailer for the purpose of being propelled or drawn by a motor-vehicle:

"Single wheel" means a wheel which is equipped with one tire:

"Solid tire" means any tire made of elastic material which is not inflated with compressed air:

"Trailer" means any vehicle having both front and rear axles and propelled or drawn by a motor-vehicle, and the load on which is sustained independently of any other vehicle, and which is so attached to the motor-vehicle either directly or through an intervening vehicle that the distance between the front axle of the trailer and the nearest axle of the vehicle to which it is attached is not less than 10 feet:

"Vehicle" means a motor-vehicle, a motor-vehicle together with its semi-trailer attached, a trailer, a trailer together with its semi-trailer attached, and any vehicle propelled by muscular power:.

"Weight on one axle" means the sum of the weights transmitted to the road surface by the two single or dual wheels connected by one axle as weighed or computed when the vehicle is at rest and on substantially level ground:

(a.) Subject to Regulation No. 7, no person shall drive on any highway any motor-vehicle, trailer, or semi-trailer other than a road-roller or traction-engine unless its wheels are equipped with rubber tires or tires of some composition equally resilient, and unless, if equipped with solid tires, each tire has a thickness of at least 1¼ inches between the rim of the wheel and the surface of the road.

(b.) No person shall drive or operate on any highway a vehicle any of the wheels of which are equipped with tires that are broken or defective in such a manner as to cause additional impact or pounding upon or injury to the surface of the highway.

(c.) Subject to Regulation No. 7, no person shall drive or operate on any highway a vehicle which has on the periphery of its wheels any spikes, cleats, lugs, or other attachments or projections which extend beyond the tread or traction surface of the tire, or which are so placed or con-
